What is PCD Pharma Franchise In India?

Propaganda Cum Distribution (PCD) is a way of doing business in pharmaceutical industry and is a growing field. In this type of business a person obtains distribution and marketing rights for pharmaceutical products from a pharma company. PCD Pharma Company is basically a franchise type of business, in which a pharmaceutical company, as a franchisor gives its brand name and products to a franchisee company. The franchisee then has the rights to sell the products as per their business strategies. PCD is an open door in the pharma business through which anyone can enter. The investment factor and risk factor for PCD are low, as the products are manufactured and supplied by the franchisor company itself. Moreover, having PCD allows the franchisor to use the pharmaceutical company's brand name, which increases market trust and adaptability of that company.
